

Gerry Bradshaw

Born in Rocky Mtn House in 1964, I moved with my family to Cherryville in 1966. In 1969 I got my first acoustic guitar. In 1970 I got my first bass and still have it to this day. By 1974 I was playing bass in my first band with Dad (Dennis Bradshaw), Eugene Foisy and his dad Urban Foisy, brother Jeff, and Uncle Lyle Cannaday, all of Cherryville at the time. In 1977, I moved back to Rocky Mtn. House with my family and after completing grade 10, I took a few different day jobs for a year and some. Then when I was 17, I hit the road with my brother Jeff in a couple different bands. At this time, brother Jeff, Mark Koenig and I started The Jericho Hill Band. Soon after, we became the back up band for Ian Tyson. I was with The Jericho Hill Band for approx. 3 years. This band went on to share the stage with some of country music's finest performers such as Garth Brooks, George Strait, Steve Earle, Crystal Gayle, Willie Nelson and many more great acts.

Cherry Creek Express

This was the original band I grew up playing in around the Okanagan. This group featured my Uncle Lyle Cannaday, father Dennis Bradshaw, brother Jeff, and me. Some other featured musicians to occasionally play in our band were Eugene and Urban Foisy, along with other Foisy's of the area as well. Over the span of a couple years, I had also gotten involved with a few other projects. One in particular featured Clint Whitecotton, Jerry Gillen, and Lee Sir, all of Lumby and Cherryville at the time.

I continued singing and performing my own likin' of country music through the years which featured all my outlaw music heroes, along with Dave Bayer whenever possible, as we shared nearly identical musical backgrounds. I've also had the pleasure of playing music with Cadillac Bob, Randy Mayer, Bob Cox, and Randy Rouk.

JoLynn McGillivray

Jo grew up in southern Alberta, moving to Rocky in 1988. She and her family started a family band and travelled around the country performing, and also recorded an album with her family at brother Jeff's studio in 2008.

I met Jo in 2014, and in 2015 we started dating. We immediately picked up on our musical interests as a couple and have been performing for about 2 years together. We are nearly finished our first CD called 'A Celebration of Outlaw Music 1'. After a bit of tossing names around, it seemed to be fitting for us to call our new duo The Cherry Creek Express Revisited.

We hope you enjoy our flavour of outlaw/country/bluegrass music - welcome aboard The Cherry Creek Express Revisited.
